DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gonzales (6,736,034).

Gonzales ('034) discloses the connector as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3, 5, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gonzales ('034), as applied to claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 9, and 10 above, in view of Jarvis (6,092,441).

Gonzales ('034), as applied to claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 9, and 10 above, discloses the claimed invention except for the provision of an elongate or oblong guide slot and a fixing pin, or a cone-shaped pin. Jarvis ('441) discloses a connector and teaches the use of an elongate guide slot and a fixing pin, as well as a cone-shaped spring.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the connector of Gonzales ('034) by providing an elongate guide slot in one of the connector members and a fixing pin therethrough, such as the connector as taught by Jarvis ('441), such that the connector of Gonzales ('034) would have the additional benefit of pivoting relative to the elongate axis of the connector, such that the tool may have the benefit of use in difficult or hard to reach applications, and additionally the spring of Gonzales ('034) may be replaced with a cone-shaped spring, also taught by Jarvis ('441), as the examiner respectfully contends that both springs have equivalent function and are both known in the art, thus the substitution of one known spring for another, where both have equivalent function, involves only routine skill in the art.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Beardsley, Chiang, Finnefrock, Sr., Hsieh, Jarvis, Karge, Milner et al., Rion, Roberts et al., and Zerver each disclose a connector.
